Core Area: Life Sciences

What prompted you to request funding from the John Templeton Foundation?: Written invitation

Project

Project title: Revelation

Executive Summary:

Previously, I initiated several projects related to the scope of the John Templeton Foundation. During the ensuing years I want to continue my work on filling the lexical and notional gap between psychoanalysis and molecular neurobiology in order to create an interdisciplinary semantic tool that can be utilized by conversion, translation and transmission of the knowledge, terms and perceptions between particular disciplines. Such tool will facilitate interlingual exchange and enhance communication within scientific community as well as contribute to implementation of metascience into political process.

Project Description:

These publications illuminate my intent:

A. Poleev, R. L. Stevenson. Strange case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, describing disordered relationship between science and the mass society. A conceptual book of metascience, 2005, 69 pages, ISBN 9780980615999.

A. Poleev. The Tommyknockers complex, 2008, 39 pages, ISBN 1007214767.

A. Poleev. Octology, 2010, 80 pages, ISBN 9781007171184.

Some research institutes may be involved in this project as cooperating partner. This assumes that a network of researches and/or institutes should be constructed in order to connect psychoanalysis and molecular neurobiology.
